ART EXHIBIT; ITS PURPOSE

First Arizona "Salon" Opens
Today; It Is to Encourage Art in State and to Induce Artists to Form a Colony Here.

This afternoon the Woman's club will throw open the doors to the public for the first Arizona Art exhibition. While the primary purpose of the exhibition is to encourage and develop art in the state it is believed that it will have a more far-reaching influence by advancing the movement for the establishment of an art school and acting as an inspiration to artists in forming a colony here. The exhibition is free to the public.

The art and lecture departments of the club, Mrs. C. F. Ainsworth, chairman, under the auspices of which the exhibition is to be held has been many months in arranging the affair. With practically little help from the outside, the club women are now ready to present to all who are interested a representative collection of Arizona pictures. In the competition class will be seen the works of Mrs. J. Garnett Holmes, Marjorie Thomas, Addie McCrory, Edna Pritchett and W. H. Anderson. The Indian school has sent an interesting group of sketches. Under the instruction of Mrs. E. C. Corwin, the native sons and daughters have developed a decided talent and liking for art.

Miss N. L. Larriss' pupils of the public schools, the future artists of Arizona, have added interest to the exhibition by their work. A study in color values and an especially clever cartoon are the features of the collection. Young Phoenixians who have "made good"—Miss Helen Ely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sims Ely; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ely; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. James, have been given space in a special class of illustration work. Both artists are in New York, associated with well known magazines and were delighted when they learned of the movement on foot to place Phoenix on the art map.

In the loan exhibit will be found pictures of value and worth. Among those who have loaned pictures are Governor Hunt, Mrs. Ainsworth, Mrs. Daniel Francis, Mrs. Jessie Benton Evans, Mrs. W. E. Defty, Mrs. George Plessee, Mrs. E. J. Gillette and J. C. Reed.

During the afternoon Mrs. Evans will give a brief art talk and Elton Ensign Hale, pianist, will furnish the music. Mr. Hale is an artist and his program will give enjoyment to the many who will afterwards crowd the department rooms where the exhibition will be held. Tea will be served, Mrs. E. J. Gillette presiding. The committee in charge of the affair comprises Mrs. Ainsworth, chairman; Mrs. W. C. Foster, Mrs. H. B. Williamson, Mrs. Anell Martin and Mrs. Dwight B. Heard. On the loan committee are Mrs. W. K. James, chairman; Mrs. Sims Ely, Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers and Mrs. Roy E. Thomas.

THE ELKS FILE SUIT AGAINST AMUSEMENT CO.

A suit was filed in the superior court yesterday, by J. L. B. Alexander, J. C. Graves and G. C. Driscoll, trustees of the Phoenix Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, against the Parker Woodman Amusement Company, a corporation.

The amount sued for is $375, which it is charged, is rent past due for the Elks' theater, the lease of which was taken over by the Parker Woodman Amusement company when they obtained the theatrical interests of A. H. Reeves.

The gifted emotional actress portrays a role that will live forever as one of the greatest demonstrations of pantomimic art ever recorded on the screen. There is something stately, austere, terribly beautiful about her attitude throughout the role.

The play was written by Angel Guimera, the distinguished Spanish author, and, besides its powerful dramatic qualities, is full of poetry and color, which display the emotions and very existence of the mountain people.

Reservations made at the Box office of the theater.
